

Press Release

London, 14. June 2018

Nualight launch Alpha. The no compromise, robust yet affordable high bay.

LONDON, United Kingdom – Effective June 14, 2018, 07:00 GMT – Energy bills across the globe have steadily climbed over the past few years and industrial lighting is intensive. In fact, with the typical 24/7 hours of operation, simply changing your lighting from older technology to the latest LED technology will almost instantly reduce your bills. Sometimes the initial investment costs can be daunting, but this is no longer the case with Nualight's new introduction to the market.

LED lighting pioneers Nualight, known for their advancements in the retail LED market have been working to bring the same benefits of LED to the industrial market. They have now extended their portfolio to include Alpha – an affordable and robust, IP65, IK08 protected LED high bay, that offers no compromises on quality and performance, across a variety of industrial applications.

Robust proven design

The Alpha range shares the same design essence and principles of the successful ARC 2 high bay range. The succinct range offers a choice of either aisle or wide optics, to ensure light is directed where it is needed, minimising glare implications.

Affordable quality

A competitive and focussed range, Alpha is designed specifically for the retrofit and end user market, for those who are looking to reap the benefits of LED savings without huge initial investment costs and without compromising on quality, lead times or proven design engineering.

Readily available

Nualight's streamlined European supply chain and dedicated customer service ensure that you will receive your Alpha solution, quickly and efficiently even for those last-minute projects. For extra reassurance, Alpha is offered with a 5-year warranty as standard.
